

WORLD COMPUTER LITERACY DAY

On the occasion of World Computer Literacy day a computer educational program was organized by Faculty of Computer Science & Applications (FCSA) at Amrapali Group of Institutes. The objective of the program was to enhance computer literacy and awareness among the school students. Prof. (Dr) M K Pandey, Director FCSA commenced the event with the motivational words and hoped that it would be beneficial for the students. Around 60 students of Pratap Bisht Government Highschool, Lamachaur participated in this event. The students of FCSA provided them the knowledge of computer and internet. For most of the students it was the first experience of working on computer. Therefore the school students were very enthusiastic and showed keen interest in learning. The event coordinator Ms. Neelima Budhani expressed thanks to the administration of participating school, participants, volunteers and faculty members who contributed in making this event successful.
